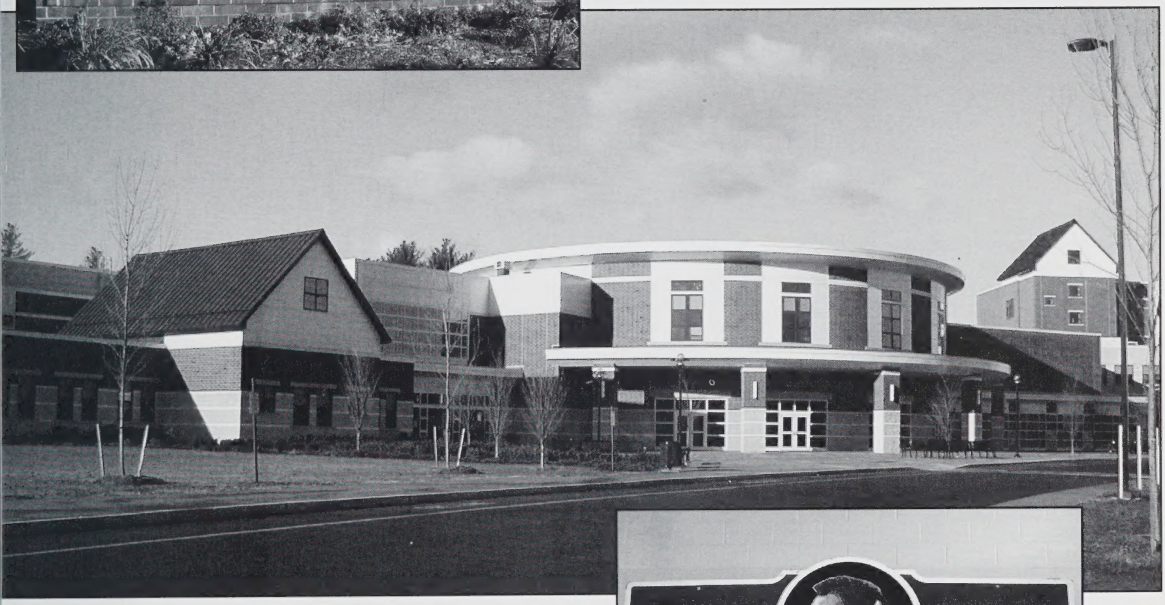
Upon entering the high school, visitors are greeted by this beautiful gold-foiled sign.

A panoramic view of the front of Tantasqua shows off its magesty.



A Tantasqua sign from the old school still stands strong as we are a school filled with many traditions and plenty of pride.

Tantasqua Regional High School

319 Brookfield Road

Fiskdale, MA 01518

508-347-9301

Welcome to one of the finest educational institutions in central Massachusetts. Tantasqua Regional High School takes pride in the quality of education and the experiences it offers to its students. It's up to you, the student to take advantage of the multitude of opportunities presented to you as you find yourself and leave your imprint on our school.

It is here that your journey begins. Your next step is beyond these doors and into an unknown. All you can hope is that you've been fully prepared for what is to come. Beyond these walls, you will become self-reliant, independent adults. You will become the role-models for the hundreds who will follow in your footsteps through the hallways of Tantasqua.

It is up to you. Make the most of what is offered to you here at Tantasqua. Take away with you as much knowledge, experience and intuition as you can. The more know you, the more likely you are to succeed and success is the ultimate goal.

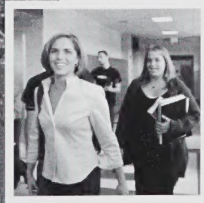
Students gather outside during a fire drill. The drill is one of many that will occur over the course of the year.

Heading up and into the building, these students are ready to start their day.

Socializing - one of the favorite pastimes of our students.

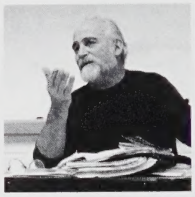
High school is all about building friendships that will last the test of time.



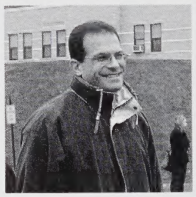
Kalin Corriveau makes her way to class before the bell. It must be D-Block - she's smiling!

Ms. Ballard does a quick search of the baseball field for her Spanish class during a fire drill.

Mr. Newton draws a debate with a student over a literary work. Can you guess who won that debate?

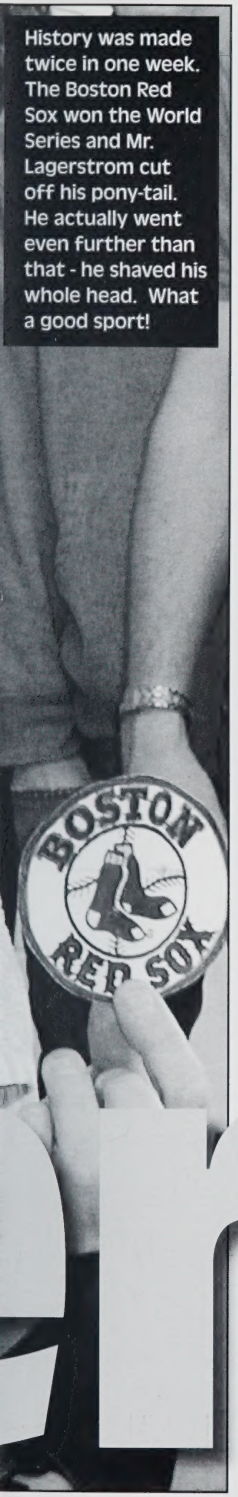


Is that a smile on Mr. Moccio's face? He looks pretty happy even though he's standing out in the cold awaiting the call to go back inside.



Mr. Pratt looks a bit perplexed here. Could it be that he still hasn't found his class and Ms. Kemp is hounding him for his attendance?

Ms. Diamantopoulos discusses the "leather jacket vs. fleece jacket" debate with Mr. Hanerfeld. By the looks of things, the fleece is the winner.



History was made twice in one week. The Boston Red Sox won the World Series and Mr. Lagerstrom cut off his pony-tail. He actually went even further than that - he shaved his whole head. What a good sport!

What is a ship without a crew? What is a cake without the icing? What is a school without its faculty? You guessed it - nothing at all. Our faculty is the filling in the Twinkie that is Tantasqua.

Ask yourself this question. Would you really enjoy the Twinkie if it had no filling? Would you even want to take a bite? Would the Twinkie be as valuable to you without the creamy white filling? I'm guessing no. Well - the same is true of our faculty. The Tantasqua Regional High School faculty has made Tantasqua what it is today - an exceptional educational institution.

The men and women who work here do so with dedication and enthusiasm. They are committed to educating each and every student who passes through its walls. In addition to educating students, the faculty also serves as advisors to clubs, sports and activities at the school. You'd be hard to find another profession where employees will willingly give up a Friday or Saturday evening of their own to chaperone a dance or other school-sponsored activity.

The faculty at Tantasqua are educators, advisers, character builders, guiders, and mentors. They are the filling in the Twinkie of Tantasqua.

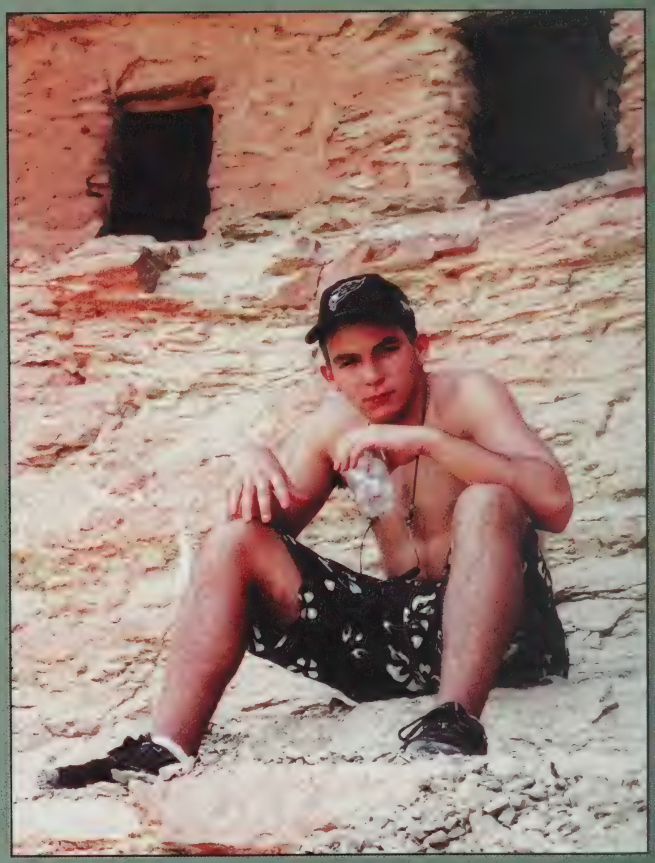
The class of 2005 book in memory of

The Greatest Person I Know



I think the best person I know is my brother. I think my brother is the best person because I look up to him. He believes in himself and he never gives up. Plus, a lot of this stuff revolves around football.

I look up to my brother because when he plays football, he's great. He's actually great when the coach puts him on in a position he's never played. That's why I look up to my brother; because I wanna play like him and be great.

I like my brother because he believes in himself and not many people believe in themselves. And this year his team wasn't doing very well and my brother believed in his team and they ended up winning the Super Bowl for his league.

Last thing I like about my brother is he never gives up. If my brother sprained his wrist in the middle of a football game, he would probably just pad it up and go back out and help his team through the rest of the game. Those reasons are why I think my brother is the best person I know.

- Nate Ledoux

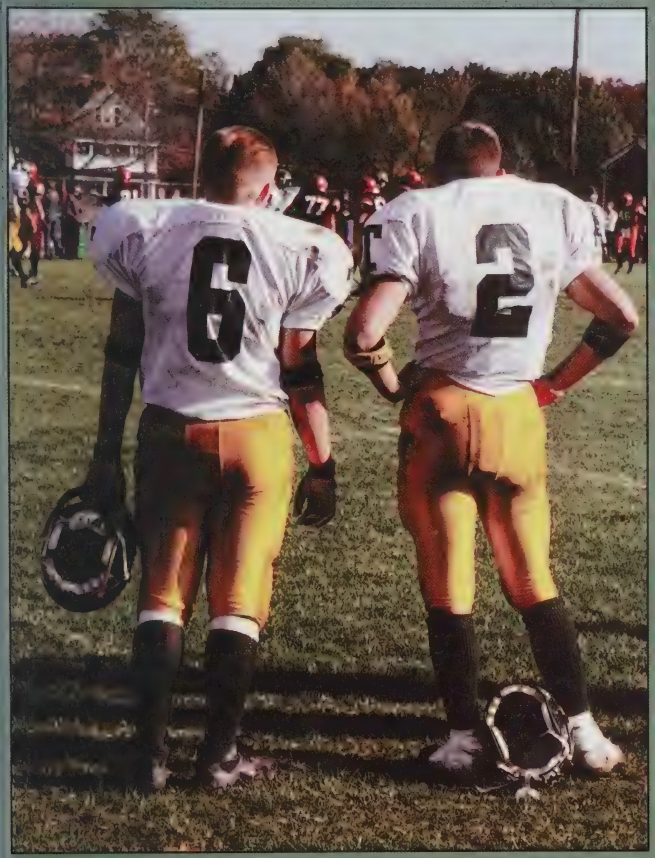
dedicates this Nicholas Ledoux



Nicholas Ronald Ledoux

Nick was a young man that everyone loved
He had a pure personality and a heart of gold
Some people said that he was a gift from above
It's ashamed to see something so great unfold

On the football field, Ledoux was unstoppable
No one could match up to his lightening speed
Though his early demise was most improbable
Our pain will heal as the time proceeds

Nick touched the lives of everyone that crossed his path
He was always game for having fun
No matter what the challenge, he tackled it full blast
He wouldn't give up until he had won

His untimely death has brought us here together
Now it's time for us to retire the number two
He'll remain in all of our hearts forever
We'll never forget you, Nicholas Ronald Ledoux

Hyped up at the pep rally, Alex Carroll - decked out in his infamous Tantasqua green and gold, takes first place in the pie-eating contest

As we the class of 2005 bring closure to our senior year, we can appreciate the experiences which have defined us as individuals and painted our class portrait. Each year we have overcome adversities which have molded us in to the mature, young adults we are today.

As we were embracing our new adventure of entering our freshman year of high school, the world as we had known changed forever. On September 11, 2001, our country was horrifically attacked by terrorists. However, in the ensuing weeks, months and now years, we have gathered together and made the transition from our mourning our losses to gradually healing and ultimately celebrating our ability to unify as a nation. Learning how to cope with our devastated world was also foreshadowing a more personal tragedy yet to come.

At the end of our sophomore year, we suffered the loss of a classmate and friend, Nick Ledoux. As a country, we had learned to unify as a nation and we now had to learn to unify as a class. In time, we began to heal, though never forgetting the special place which Nick would always hold in our hearts. We were able to lift out spirits and laugh once again. We came to appreciate one another in a way we never had before.

How can we forget Junior year? The ups and downs of academic challenges, thinking about career choices, visiting colleges and the excitement of attending our own prom!

As seniors, we now reflect on all that we have endured and enjoyed as a class. Through the tears and laughter, we have come to realize that along with our dedicated teachers, we have helped prepare one another for the future. As each one of us pursues his/her own path in life and as we aspire to reach our own personal goals, may we leave Tantasqua feeling confident that we have left an imprint of which we can be proud.

I would also like to sincerely thank each of you for the opportunity and honor of having been able to work with you as your Class President. I wish each of you many fond memories of our years together as the Class of 2005, and much happiness and success in the future. Remember, your destiny lies before you.

With the end of a high school career in sight, the class of 2006 enjoyed their first year as upperclassmen. The juniors spent the past one-hundred eighty days doing schoolwork, socializing and more importantly, contributing greatly to the school through numerous in-school clubs and activities as well as the community. In addition to the countless ways the class has assisted the school, many talented individuals in the junior class took part in the many musical groups the school offers, participated in chorus, played on various sports teams, were members of clubs and mastered their creativity in the arts during the 2004-2005 year. Now, the class of 2006 is looking forward to becoming seniors. With only one year left to go, the class will soon be preparing for college and the workforce.

With a little bit of intuition and a lot of experience, the class of 2006 continues to pave the way for the underclassmen. They are setting an example for future generations of students to follow and will master their own craft in the upcoming year. Move forward, and continue to leave your imprint on everything you touch.

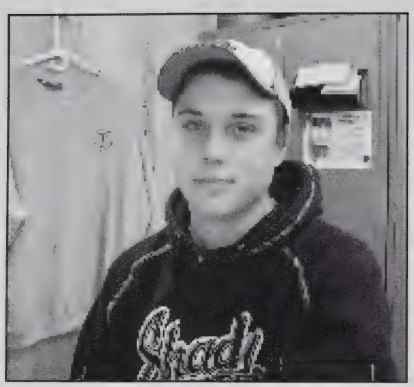
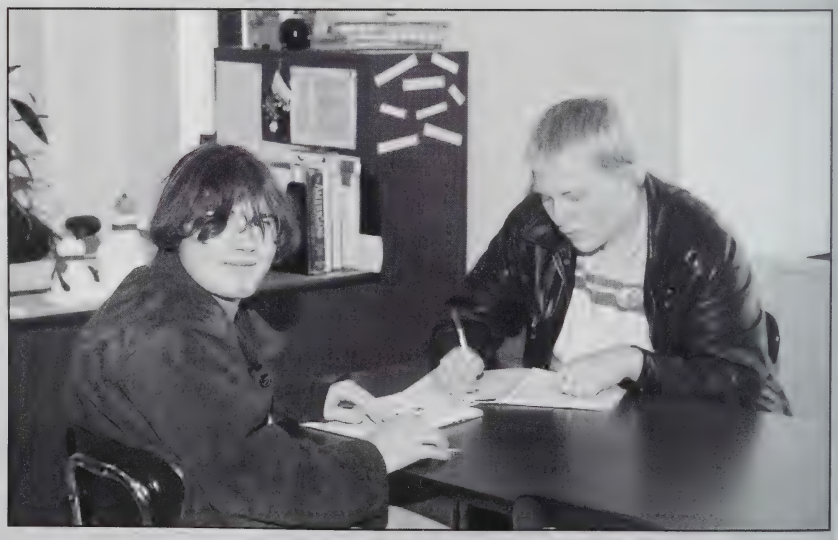
Class of 2006!



Junior year is a year filled with hard work and little play. Jeff Evans takes a break from working on math problems.

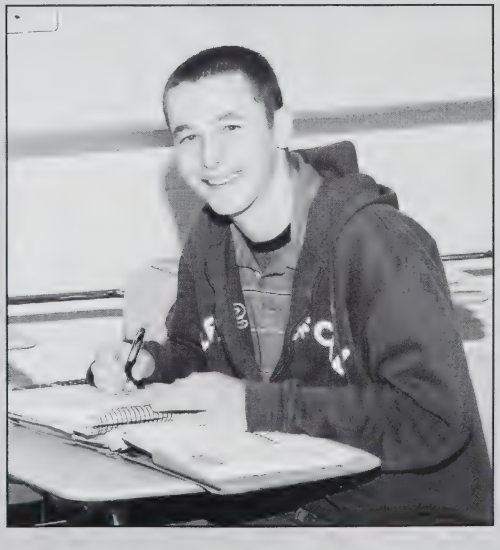
Though currently juniors, these ladies look like they're having the time of their lives at last year's Sophomore All-Nighter.

Thomas Dell and Dave Brown try to get some homework done before they leave their class. The more done in school, the less that has to be done at home.



It's funny... students always seem to have a smile on their face when they walk into the building. So, where do those smiling faces go once the classes start?

The Conservation classes here at Tantasqua are responsible for keeping the greenhouse operating as well as planting flowers around the school. Joe Deciantis–Resseguie does his part by shoveling up a spot for flower bulbs to be planted.



Anna Simons is sitting by her locker trying to get some last minute work done before the 7:41am bell rings.

With a smile like that, he's obviously got to be sitting in a math class. What other class would put such a smile on a student's face?

Kevin McKearney heads to class with what looks to be the makings of a nice project

No longer yielding the masks of freshmen, sophomores have their own challenges to face. What once was a simple existence is now shrouded by the ever-important task of looking ahead to the future. Sophomore year isn't just filled with tough coursework, it is the year in which students first begin to see the light at the end of the tunnel - graduation. Sophomore year begins the pursuit of the future and is no "stroll through the park." Students begin to set the stage for their last two years in hopes of having enough experience, credits, knowledge and maturity to make it to senior year.

Sophomore year also brings about numerous school dances, pep-rallies and of course, fund-raising. Most importantly, sophomores have an event all their own - the sophomore all-nighter which occurs each March. It is a night filled with games, movies, socializing and fun. And the best thing about it... it's only for sophomores. As juniors and seniors get to look forward to the Prom, sophomores have this event to look forward to. It's the first event that's all theirs and one of many events they have to look forward to as they make their way to their senior year.

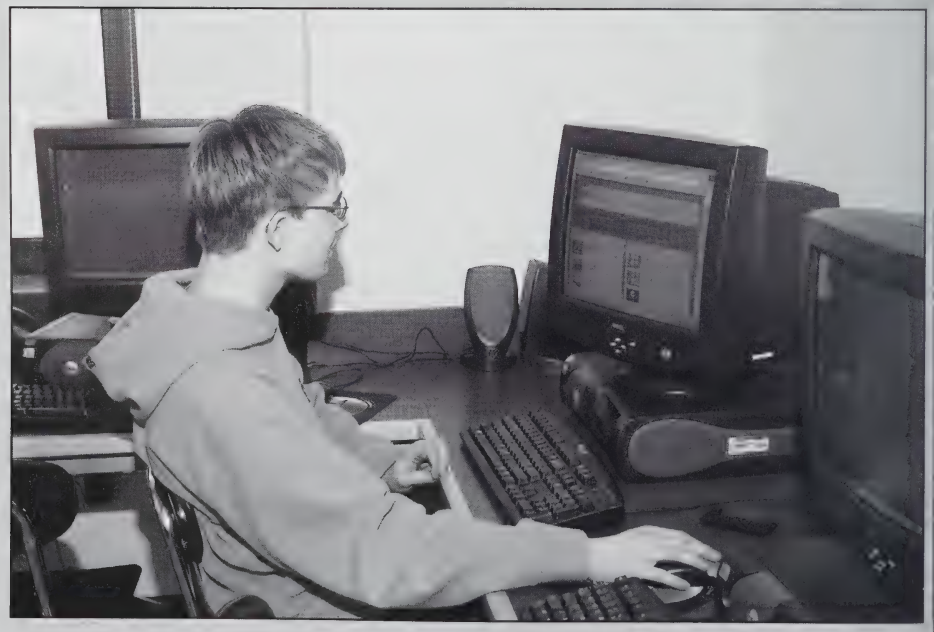
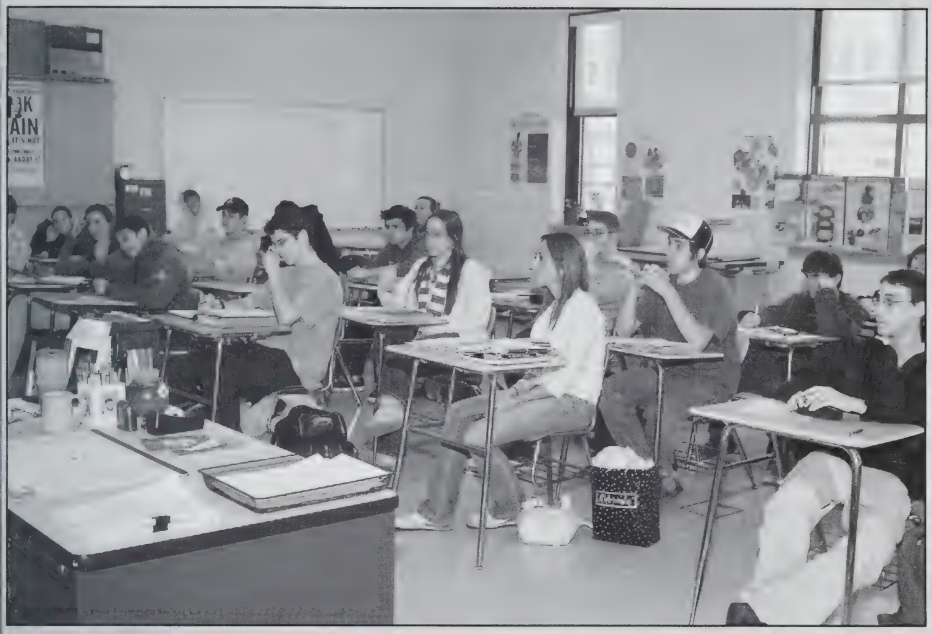
An elective offered by the Math Department, Computer Programming is quickly becoming a sought after class by many students. Seen here, Jasper Proske works on a program in his computer programming class.





These sophomores look like they're really enjoying this science class. Seeing that they'll need at least 15 credits in science, they're going to have to work hard to get to the next course.

Manufacturing is one of the classes in the technical department. What a fun class! Students get to play with both computers and machines!

These girls chat a little between classes. This is basically the only time where students can talk without getting disciplined by teachers.

The ninth grade year is a year of transition It is a new year and a new school for the freshmen. All that they have come to know and grown accustomed to at the Junior High is done and gone. They are no longer the "top-dog's" of the school, intead they're now at the bottom of the totem pole. They the youngest students in the building. Ahead of them is a year filled with hard work, active schedules, and the challenge of trying to fit in. In addition to all that, they have to face the reality that they're probably going to be picked on a bit by the upperclassmen. It's tradition! All one can hope for is a strong and dedicated group of indivuduals who can stand on their own and face the the music. What's the main goal of freshman year? Survival!

The class officers for the class of 2008, shown to the left, have been elected to serve the freshman class. They are a dedicated, diverse group of individuals who all have one goal in mind - make it through freshman year in one piece. The officers are working together to make this year and the years to come the best possible for the class. They have great ideas and are hoping to see them through in the years to come.

I'm sure all of you have heard the stereotypes about the tech division. It's for people who don't live to do work or for those who don't do well in academics. Well, those stereotypes are completely wrong. It gives students both a great education and career skills for life. Students enrolled in the Technical Program learn skills that are needed in our society and they learn to do them well. Doing well in a course is not fueled by how it affects a GPA, but by the desire to do what the students love to do - and that's where a successful career begins.

Many individuals go to work everyday to do a job that they may not really enjoy. With an education from the technical division, students will never have to worry about going to a job they dislike. They will have already gotten a head start in the competitive and demanding workforce. For those who are college-bound, it gives them something that not many other students have when applying to college. It gives them the advantage of already knowing what they want to do with their lives and prepares them to do it.

I believe the technical division is on of the greatest things that a student could ask for. To have the opportunity to do something you love, to receive a head-start in the workforce and a successful career right out of high school is a great benefit. Really... what more could you ask for?

making our world HealthieR one patient at a time

There are two aspects of being a student in the Allied Health Program. First, the educational experience. Second, how it shapes us a human beings on a personal level.

The educational experience includes going to the hospital and nursing home to care for the patients and residents using the skills taught to us in class. We also shadow the different departments of the hospital such Obstetrics, Occupational Therapy, X-Ray, Pediatrics and the Emergency Room.

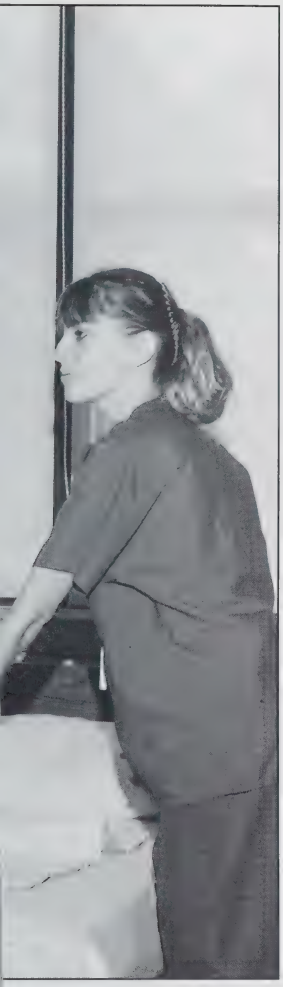
The way it shapes us is by giving us a broader understanding of other people, illness, life and death. The education expands beyond the classroom and books. We are able to interact with people and make them feel better about themselves. This class helps us discover who we are as individuals and teaches us skills of life to prepare us for the future.

- Jaimie Jalbert

Ooooh... I have an itch right here and it won't go away. Katelyn Deflumeri in Allied Health.

Apparently the patients in Allied Health are now coming from all over the place. Either that or the students here at Tantasqua are getting younger and younger looking every year.

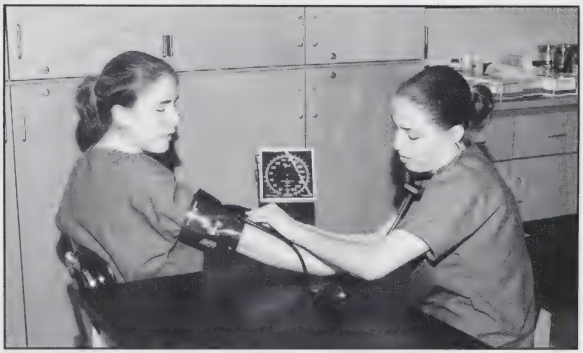
Jamie Jalbert shows her little patient, Cassandra Champagne, how to operate some of the equipment that is used in Allied Health.



Bridgette Delisle, Vanessa Cloutier and Sharleen Campbell try out a new sleeping devise? Hmmm... what is the purpose behind this contraption anyway?

The directions say that I just have to stick this pointy thing into your ear and I'll know your temperature. Didn't your doctor ever tell you not to put anything in your ears? The irony.

Okay - your blood pressure is 110/80... is that good? Maegan Remillard and Katelyn Deflumeri practice with the blood pressure cuff.



Now... we just might blend in with the crowd if you act like a teenager. What do you think? Will anyone notice us?

What is Allied Health like?

"Allied Health is the ability to help other people when they need it the most. To make others healthier so that they can continue on with their lives as soon as possible"

Bridgette DeLisle

"Allied Health is a way of expressing yourself through how much care your able to give someone you don't know."

Sharleen Campbell

"You learn about how to take care of ill people and how to deal with certain kinds of patients. To me, taking care of people is the best thing in the world."

Maegan Remillard

"Allied Health is an experience that makes us stronger, more understanding people. It also gives us a greater appreciation for life."

What is Carpentry like?

"Carpentry is an interesting way of expressing my wood-working skills. Got Wood?"

Travis Surprenant

"Carpentry brings out our creative side, but we need Mr. Nap back to help Mr. Seguin. I like hammering things."

Joe Thomas

"Carpentry is awesome. You get to work with your hands and actually see the results of your hard work."

Caroline Rose

"I love carpentry. It is lots of fun!"

Stephanie Velinek

Sean Lawrence looks a little captivated by the machine. Now what does that button do? Maybe I should try it?

Jeff Comeau stops working just for a moment. Sanding wood is a crucial part of every project. We love those nice smooth surfaces.

Carpentry is a fun and exciting place to be! We learn how to create and build houses and to do finish work on various things. The most exciting part of being a student in carpentry for seniors is getting to do the senior project. In addition to this project, we also get to work on many projects that we can actually bring home.

Some of our favorite projects over the course of the year were when we made cutting boards, magazine racks and television stands. We also have the opportunity to do work for the community. We have built sheds for some teachers, a ramp for a horse farm and the stairs at Burgess Elementary School.

- it's a respectable trade and there's still a lot of money to be made."

"True machinists don't think of metal as something hard and unchangeable. They can make anything they want, or replace nearly any part that has ever been made. I have a lot of respect for those guys. I always will."

Electrical is a 3 year program beginning in the sophomore year. About half of the time is spent doing hands on work (the favorite), and half is spent in the classroom doing diagrams, taking notes, calculating electrical problems, referencing the Code book, and other activities that support work in the shop. The time invested in electrical has been fun and worthwhile!

Upon graduation most people go directly into the world of work as very well qualified entry level electrical apprentices. The electrical industry loves to hire Tantasqua's electrical graduates as they are very well prepared. Some of the graduates continue their education at either a 2 year technical school or a 4 year engineering college. Graduates of the program work in varied areas of the electrical industry including communications, utility, sales, electrical contracting, and even electrical education!

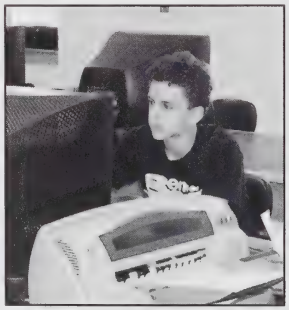
creating Structures

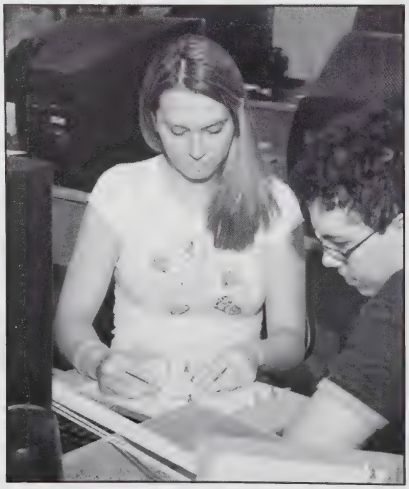
one blueprint at a time

In my opinion, CAD is a very good course to take if you are looking to further yourself in any kind of engineering field. The course combines both math skills and the knowledge of drafting standards which are used on the computer in software such as AutoCAD. There are many different drawing programs that can be used for different needs and different projects.

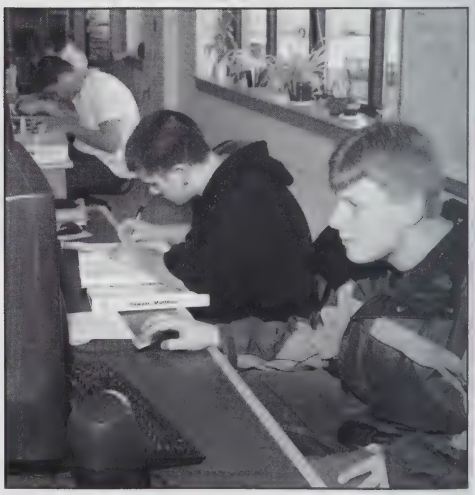
Students taking this course must complete one in-class project each quarter. The first project usually consists of "Chutes and Marbles." In this project, students design and build a structure that will allow a steel ball to travel down to the ground within a sixty second time limit. The second project is the "Balsa Wood Bridge" contest. Student groups design and construct a bridge that will be competing in the category of most efficient use of wood. The third project is the "Cardboard Chair." Students must make a chair to seat one person that is made only of cardboard and glue. The fourth and final project is one that requires an amphibious vehicle be built. All of this is happening in an office-like environment which has a nice little shop to one side.



Peter Stevens , a student in the CAD program, works on his Bridge Design Project on the computer.



Matt Sawyer and Matt Mitchell, both from Machine Tech, work on a CAD project



Nicole Matanes and John McLiesh work on their bridge structures together as a team.

Max Denning uses push-pins and small pieces of wood to put together what appears to be a bridge truss. First comes the design process and then the actual structure can be created.

Dianna Senosk

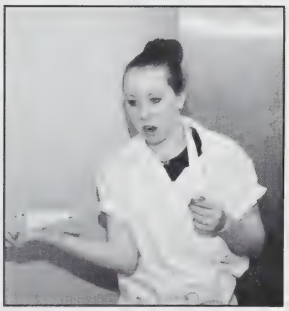
making our world less hungry one meal at a time

I like the Culinary Arts program here at Tantasqua because it has given me an opportunity to explore a big interest that I have which is working with food. This is the first step in launching a career in the food-service industry and this program will undoubtably prepare me for the outside world.

I have learned the basics of working in a kitchen and of course how to cook and bake many different dishes. I really feel as though I owe a great deal to this program as it has pointed me in the direction that is right for me. Now, it is up to me to go the distance.

- Damian Evangelous



Megan Passerelli looks dumbfounded here. "You want expect me to create THAT design with the icing?" It looks way too difficult!

Perfection is the only option when frosting a cake. Kira Madelle uses an icing bag with a fancy tip to painstakingly put the finishing touches on the edge of the cake.

Dianna Senosk places teaspoon sized balls of cookie dough onto an ungreased cookie sheet. Now just place those in the oven at 375 degrees farenheit for 10 to 12 minutes.

Faster

making our world

one fiber optic at a time

Photonics is a newer technical class available at Tatnasqua. It is the study of light and harnessing it for practical uses.

As Photonics students we learn about the physics and chemistry of how light is created and how it behaves. We take this knowledge and utilize it as we work with lasers and fiber optics.

This class would be very interesting to any student who enjoys math and science. Throughout the course students study lasers, fiber optics, geometry of lenses and electronics. The program has a wonderful lab filled with a ton of equipment just dying to be used. Photonics opens a world that most studens will never have the opportunity to see.

Billy Dunn works on a project in his Principles of Engineering class. Dr. Drexhage teaches this as a side-course to Photonics.

Mike Willard looks like he's about to catapult something across the room with that device.

Mike Chojnowski and Dave Lussier appear to be concentrating a great deal tyring to balance their little contraption so it'll work correctly.

Adam Benson peers through the glass to make certain the laser is being and refracted correctly.

Bryan Avery works on a project in his Principles of Engineering course. He looks happy to be there!

George Willis, John Outland and Dave Lussier work on their trebuchet devices.

Pat Shine, Paul Lariviere and Steve Glynn work on their catapults.

What is Photonics like?

"Photonics is a very interesting subject based on the study of light. It is a mixture of math and science."

George Willis

"Learning about how light can be manipulated for use in various applications was interesting, as I did not know much about it before."

Adam Benson

"Photonics mixes valuable math and science skills with the ability to manually assemble precise lab apparatuses in order to understand light and its nature."

Jimmy Underhill

"The experiements that we performed were all straight forward, and the results were easily understood."

Mark Riel

What is Computer Tech like?

"We get to use our knowledge in the real world by going to on the job sites and helping out in the community."

Curtis Chambers

"Computer Technology is a hands-on learning experience. It is definitely a one-of-a-kind class. It's exciting and fun!"

Alicia Goyette

"We get a lot of hands-on experience fixing computers for the district's elementary schools. We also get practical, real-world experience with companies."

Derek Willis

"Computer Technology is a great learning experience. We get to learn what it is like to work in the real world and get in on the job experience."

making our world more ConnecteD one computer at a time

In the Computer Technology program, I've learned valuable entrepreneurial and computer troubleshooting skills. We've gained a lot of hands-on experience with computers by repairing computers in the school district and also in the community. We learn professional business skills through communications with businesses and clients concerning our printer cartridge/cell phone recycling program, ordering supplies, and providing technical support. This class has really helped me to gain the knowledge I need to succeed in the career path that I choose. I have had a lot of fun in this class, have made some great friends, and have learned many skills to take with me into the real world.

Tantasqua may not be extremely diverse in terms of race or ethnicity, but it is extremely diverse when we look at the people who fill the hallways. It's this diversity that makes Tantasqua the unique learning institution that it is. We can all learn something from one another, all we have to do is open our minds a little and let the diversity in.

While some students at Tantasqua excel in music and theater, others have more mathematical minds. Some students like a more visual approach and enjoy working with their hands while others still are extremely creative and can make something out of nothing with few materials. Some students play sports after school, others attend club or activity meetings while others head off to their after school jobs. No matter where students go after the 2:02 bell rings, their style and mannerisms makes an impact on Tantasqua.

These pages are dedicated to some of the diverse things students do both in and out of school. It is a small glimpse into the lives of the most important people at the school - you.

Here's just one of the fabulous things that can be seen in the Tantasqua cafeteria on a normal day. Did I say normal?

Dennis Brosnan seems very excited to have his picture taken as he works on an assignment.

Theresa Davieau is learning the ups and downs of sewing. Careful not to get your finger in there!

How embarrassing - having your picture taken while you're trying to eat lunch!

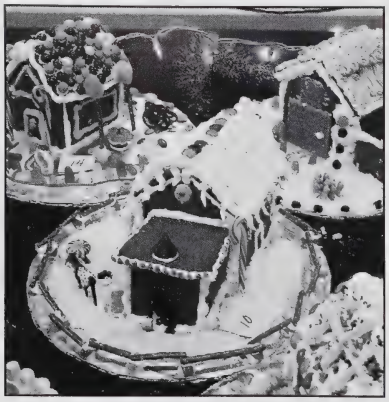
It's a marshmallow world and the foods classes at Tantasqua are getting ready for the holiday season

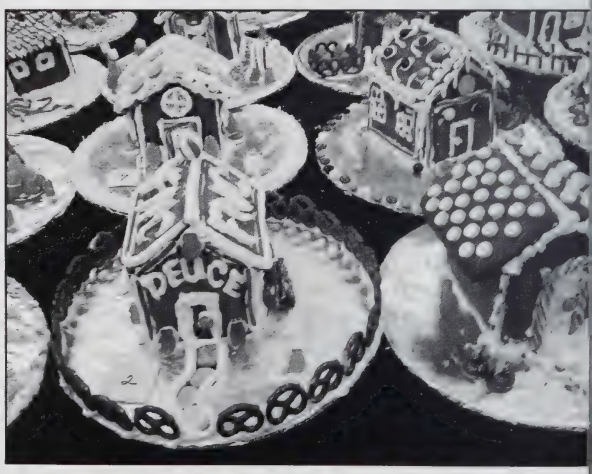
One of the many highlights of taking Foods at Tantasqua (aside of getting to eat everything you make) is the holiday tradition of making gingerbread houses. Classes work for days on making these artistic masterpieces in hopes of winning the classic gingerbread house competition. These works of art may look easy to create but in reality, they can be very challenging. From icing to gingerbread pieces, the process can be quite messy. The best part of course... putting all the candy pieces on. Some houses are made to reflect actual houses while others were made as a tribute to friends. Whether they'll be used as gifts or holiday centerpieces, these gingerbread houses look fantastic. They all deserve first place!

Sarah-Kay Jerome shows off her wintery creation. I wonder what place it won in the competition.

You could own this lovely Cape with attached garage for a mere $275,000.



This gingerbread house offers a little tribute to classmate Nick Ledoux.



Devan LaChance patiently waits for the rest of the class to finish up their houses so the judging can begin.

Danielle Lisowski tries to make her gingerbread house look like her own house. Now all you need is the driveway and a couple of cars.

This house can also be seen in the children's storybook - Hansel and Gretel. If you've never heard of the story - get yourself a copy... it's a classic.

Sean Croteau concentrates as he places candies onto his gingerbread house for decoration. This isn't as easy as it looks. Adam Valiquette offers moral support from the sideline.

spending time in the cafeteria eating lunch, socializing, playing air hockey and working on that last minute assignment

Is there a reason why everyone likes spending time in the cafeteria? Could it be the beautiful facilities, the air hockey tables, the time to socialize, or is it the fabulously nutritious lunch that's provided each day? Maybe, lunch is everyone's favorite subject because it's the only time during the day that students actually have the opportunity to hang out and socialize with friends. It's an opportunity to grab a quick bite to eat and get a little down-time from the rigor of classes. Sometimes, lunch is the time needed to do that last minute cramming for the upcoming test or to put the finishing touches on the homework assignment that wasn't completed the previous night. No matter what the reason for enjoying lunch, it is by far one of the most looked-forward to time during the school day. Now, if they could just increase the time for lunch by six hours and everyone would LOVE coming to school!

These students are so enthralled with their eating that they don't even notice the camera.

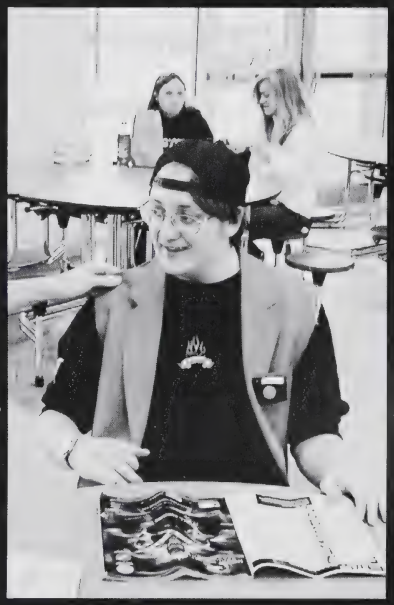
Eric Morse, Matt Alarie, Curtis Chambers, Chuck Gilman and Brendan Longe enjoy some time together at lunch.

Jeff Lindgren either just bit his tongue or has decided after the fact that he really isn't liking his sandwich too much.

Alex Milam uses his "lunch hour" to catch up on a little light magazine reading. Now, if we only had an hour for lunch... he might be able to actually finish an article.



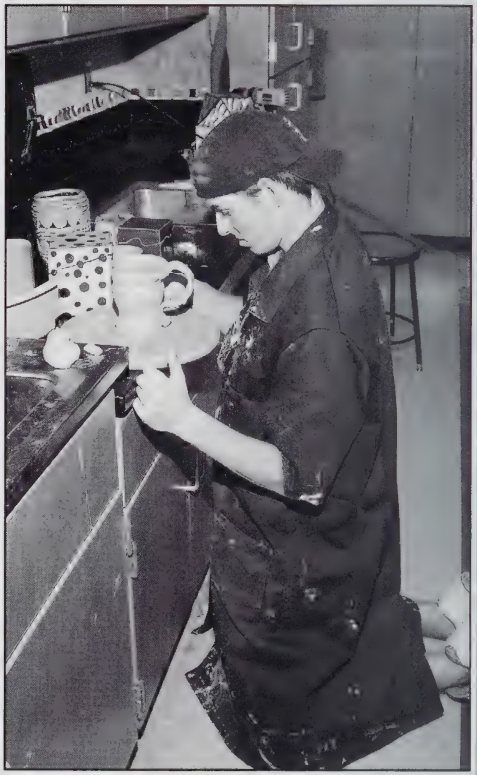
Mikey Wassmer looks a little surprised that he's being disrupted during feeding time.

You have GOT to try this sandwhich! It's do to die for! Heather Swett seems to really be enjoying her sandwich. I'm not too sure if Josh Clark is enjoying it as much.

creativity
at it's peak

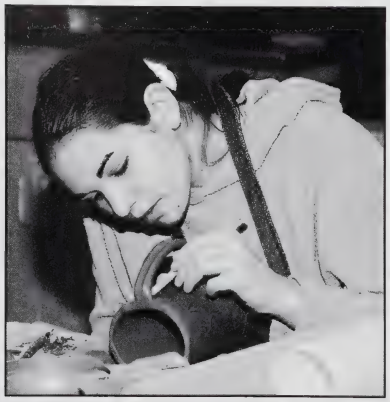
students work in art classes on pottery, fiber arts, painting, drawing and being creative

The art classes here at Tantasqua are some of the most popular courses for students come course-selection time. These classes are offered as electives and are always filled very quickly. It's easy to see why. These courses act as a creative outlet to many of Tantasqua's students. Where else can students take time to work on pottery, do a little weaving, make a quick sketch or paint a masterpiece. All the doodling done in the other classes of the day is put to good use here. It's also nice to see the creative side of students. Not all students excell in academic subjects such as math and english just as not all students are artists. The art courses at Tantasqua give students with much talent an opportunity to expand their talent and master their craft in addition to offering a glimpse into the arts to students who normally wouldn't be looking for a career in art. All in all, the art courses are a great place to be!



Please come out good... please come out good... Ryan Ferro says a little pottery prayer.

Jessica Okerberg puts the finishing touches on what apears to be a mug in her pottery class.



Kevin Vayda gives Stef Navarro's work a glance as Dave Elliot looks on.

Kacey Light puts the final touches on a cup before it heads into the kiln for firing.

Emily Quinn and Jill Parzych seem to be enjoying this art class. These classes are very difficult to get into - they're always full!

making the grade
and having some fun

the main focus of school is of course classwork

What's more important than academics in high school? Nothing. Here at Tantasqua, students must enroll in four courses each semester which gives them the opportunity to enrich their minds in a total of eight courses each year. Student have a vast array of classes to choose from in both the academic and technical school. Tantasqua prides itself in offering its students numerous pathways to success. Each year, students meet with their guidance couselors to discuss these pathways and make appropriate choices to stay on their path. It's the student's responsibility to achieve the goals set before them and maintian academic excellence in order to move forward each year. The rigorous courses offered at Tantasqua are guaranteed to prepare the students for college and for the outside workforce. It's up to the students to take advantage of the opportunities presented to them and make the most of their academic experiences while at Tantasqua.

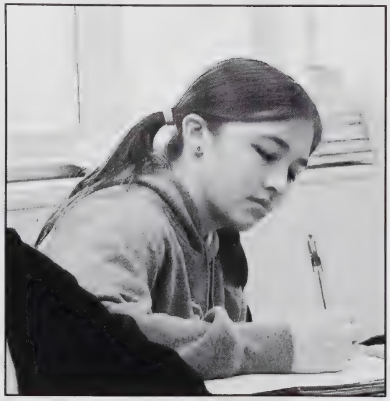
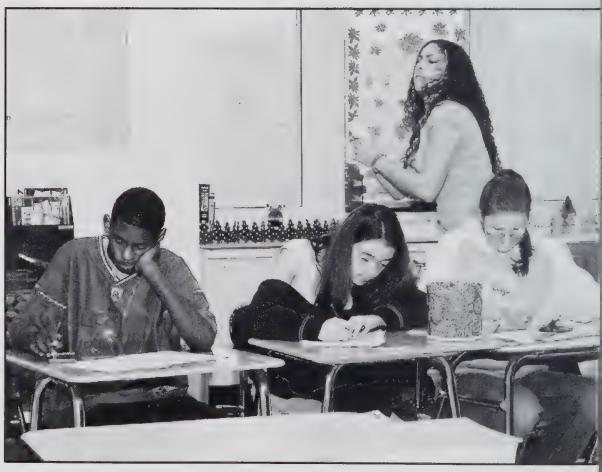
Jasmin Lee seems intent on getting her assignment done. She doesn't even notice the camera.



Tiffany Wassmer is up and about as her classmates work on a worksheet before the bell.



Justin Woolf-Sullivan looks like he's really into that book. Perhaps he should follow the lead of Michaela Fowler and Jillian Penan who both seem to be enthralled by what they're reading.

Stephanie Kerber chuckles at one of Ms. Duane's many science jokes.

Ben Rearick offers the sign of peace as his classmates look on.

Scott Adams is all smiles in the front row. He must be in math. The rest of the class seems to be enjoying the moment as well. They must be talking about Pythagoras again.

One, Two, One Two Three Four!

many of Tantasqua's talented students take part in musical groups

As most people have noticed, the music department has made a lot of progress over the past few years. From incorporating new ensembles into the mix to making the old ones bigger and better, you can see changes anywhere you look. The 2004-2005 THS Music Dept. consists of: Marching Band, Concert Choir, Jazz Band, Choraleers, Concert Band, Show Choir, and more!

BAND - Under the direction of Mr. Randall, the THS Marching Band has changed drastically over the past four years. Interest is up adn the music and moves are quite entertaining. This year's repertooire for the 2004 football season was "Riders on the Storm," "When I'm Sixty-Four," and "Evis Ways." The band danced under leadership of Drum Majors, Thomas Auger, Abby Shocik and Amanda Cyr, as did the Color Guard lead by Color Guard Captain, Leslie Shaw under the direction of Mrs. Dubois.

CONCERT CHOIR - Concert Choir is an elective class under the direction of Mrs. Costello, in which four-part harmonies entertain your senses in select songs such as "The Gift" and "Zombie Jamboree."

JAZZ BAND - While the Concert Choir is practicing, so is the Jazz Band, directed by Mr. Randall. This group of talented young musicians get down and dirty by jamming on stage at school performances or private gigs with songs like "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy," "Blue Skies," and (long-time favorite) "Born to be Wild."

CHORALEERS - On the opposite end of the musical spectrum, with mainly classical songs, ist he audition-required Choraleers, directed by Ms. Costello. This is a group of students who practice weekly after school and perform at such venues as the State House in Boston. Songs like "Voice Dance" and "When Soft Voices Die," enchant audiences by using four, six or occasionally eight-part harmonies.

CONCERT BAND - Concert Band is directed by Mr. Randall. Many of you will notice that the majority of people in Marching Band are also in Concert Band. That is because it is a requirement of the course, but many of these dedicated musicians love to perform whether on the field or on the stage. With a repertoire ranging from "Final Voyage" to "Christmas Day," and everywhere in between, this standard, sit-down band can still kick it pretty hard.

ENCORE! - For those of us who would rather sing and dance there is Encore!, Tantasqua's very own award-winning Show Choir. The singing is directed by Ms. Costello while choreography is handled by Melissa Grimaldi. Josh Guerrez takes care of business with the pit band. The 2004-2005 Encore! show consists of "My Immortal," "Bohemian Rhapsody," "Princessof the Universe," "Spirits in the Material World," and "Livin' La Vida Loca."

The Tantasqua Regional High School Music Department would like to congratulate those members who made Central Districts for the 2004-2005 season: Alison MacFadden on violin, Lily Olson on clarinet, Megan Speidel on bass clarinet, Nick Zini on trumpet, Andrew Kent on trombone in the Jazz Band, and Chris Zini, Melody Felton, Aaron Van Dolson, Josh Croke, Hannah Datz and Craig Laprade as vocalists. Congratulations!

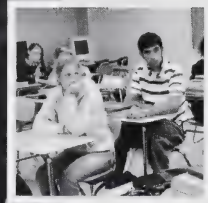
Everyone loves a tradition. Many of us have family traditions around the holidays, others have their own traditions they like to follow. No matter what the tradition is, it's hard to break. Think about that holiday tradition being changed suddenly. Think about suddenly not having a Prom or a Homecoming dance. Traditions are things that people tend to rely on. They offer a sense of security, belonging and comfort.

Here at Tantasqua we have our own traditions. The Homecoming dance, winter concert, spring play, Mr. Tantasqua competition, Senior Variety Show, the Junior/Senior Prom, and graduation are all time tested traditions that have been in place and been part of life at Tantasqua. These events are looked forward to and tend to remain in the memories of students long after high school is over.

As with school, traditions in life are just as important. They can be passed down from generation to generation just as the traditions here are passed on from class to class. They are called traditions because they are here to stay - at least until a new tradition can take their place.

tradition



Joey Siniscalchi and Erika Mitchell try to look like their interested in their traditional B-block class - Precalculus. What could be more interesting than that?

The Aloha dance is fast becoming a tradition at THS. Sabrina Boyd and Sarah Chamberland show off their dance moves to a new line dance song.

What's more traditional than lunch? We do it every single day. Ashley Parent enjoys her lunch with friends.

Oh the prom! Probably one of the favorite traditions of the year. Students dress up, get into fancy cars and head out for a night of dancing and eating. What fun!

Selling tickets for the upcoming Homecoming dance, Stef Navarro looks a bit perplexed. Is the apple she's eating a little sour?

Is it the Electric Slide? The Marcarena? Cotton-Eye-Joe? Whatever the song is, these prom-goers look like they're concentrating quite a bit on getting those steps down right.

Sean Marino and his "date" show a little affection during a slow dance.

A Night out on the Town

What would you consider to be the highlight of your four years of high school? Would it be taking classes? Would it be playing sports? How about being on Math Team? Could it be all the fun you had in band or chorus? For some of us, these are the highlights of high school but for others, the Prom holds a special place in the line-up of most remembered and coveted events in the four years spent in high school.

This past year's prom was no exception. It is not very often that people have an opportunity or a reason to get dressed up (and I mean very dressed up) to go out. A typical Friday night doesn't include an evening gown or a tuxedo, never mind a limousine. Going to the prom gives young students an excuse to "live it up" for a night. It's an opportunity to act as adults in an adult setting and in adult clothing. It's a chance for students to show off how well they "clean up."

Most every area high school has a prom. It is a tradition that is not only well-known and accepted, it is one that is looked forward to for years before it happens. As can be seen in the pictures on this page, the Tantasqua Regional High School prom of 2004 was an event worth attending and will most likely be remembered for the years to come.

Lizzi Messenger and Carl Winkler are all smiles as neither of them has ever been to Rome!

An Evening in Rome

By word of mouth through the student body Homecoming 2004 was proclaimed, "The best Homecoming ever!" The Co-Chairs of the dance were Jaimie Macari and Chris Fasser whose hard work and organization paid off in the end, along with help from the small committee, student council members, and generous staff members. The theme "Romance in Rome" was incorporated into the wonderful decorations, which included: tall white Roman columns, luscious green grape vines, draped tooling, sparkling white lights, an excellent assortment of balloon displays, romantic scattered rose petals, and a picturesque photo spot. Stef Navarro, Jaimie Macari, Monique Scroth, Christina Bencivenni, Lauren Bouley, and Alyssa Rogalski had the honor of being nominated the Homecoming Court "Goddesses." The "Gods" included Andre Beriau, Matt St. Laurent, Alex Carroll, Chuck Gilman, Felipe Diaz, and Zach Billodeau. Christina Bencivini and Zach Billodeau were crowned with grape vines at the dance. The preparation, great music, atmosphere, and friends, made Homecoming 2004 a night to remember!

Contestants line up on the stage as they prepare their witty answers for the question and answer portion of the competition.

Bryan Avery sports a very interesting swimsuit at the Mr. Tantasqua competition.

Strutting down the Runway

Another amazing Mr. Tantasqua show goes by as the men of Tantasqua show their stuff. From Irish step dancing to singing so sweetly, there certainly is not a lack of talent at THS. Even though he knows he wont win this year, Aaron Van Dolson is not afraid to compete as a Sophomore against his tough Senior competition. The Seniors see this as one of their last hurrahs before leaving Tantasqua. They have waited all their

High School life to win this competition, and that dream finally came true for Felipe Diaz, the winner of this year's competition with his astounding Columbian based performance. Everyone was laughing when he shared with us his memories of his first sight of America. The combined effort of Alex Caroll, Felipe Diaz, and Sean Malvey really pulled off a great performance or Irish Step Dancing. They should really consider going professional.

Felipe Diaz, "Mr. Tantasqua - 2004" sends his love to his mom and his "crew" after his stellar performance.

Aaron Van Dolson - sang "I Want to Grow Old with You" during the talent competition of the show.

Alex Carroll acting as William Wallace answering questions during the Q&A period. "Sons of Scotland!"

Felipe Diaz - reenacts his fondest memory of the beach... Welcome to America Felipe!

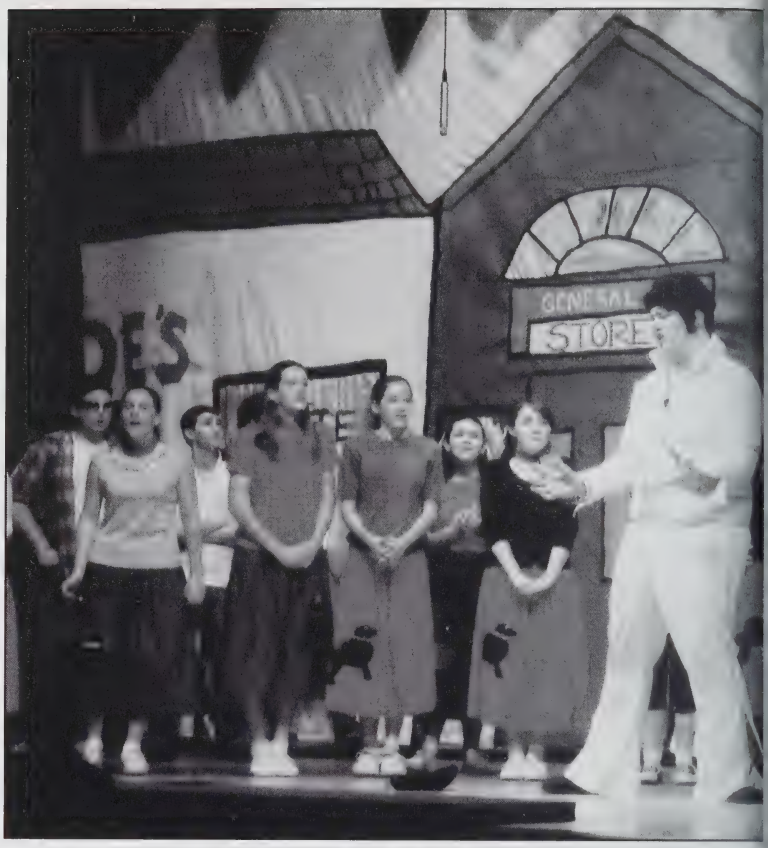
Charlie Curnow - professional diver with a touch of the Beatles?

Kyle Coston shows off his fabulous swimsuit. Hey... has he been working out???

Ms. Kowal applies the finishing touches of makeup onto a cast member right before the show. Better hurry, she's about to go onstage!

Chris Zini, Ali Schonholz, Manny Pineiro & Melanie Friedman have perfected their roles and are acting out their parts during the performance.

Sarah Chamberland and the rest of the cast sing song during their performance on stage.



Cast members celebrate another well-done performance together. Don't they all look so happy to be done?

Josh Raymond as Conrad Birdie, a character inspired by the rock legend Elvis Presley is admired by the rest of the cast as he makes his way through another award winning performance.

Josh Raymond, playing Conrad Birdie and Ali Schonholz playing Kim McAfee strike a picture perfect pose during their performance.

Bye Bye... Birdie

What makes a great show? That's a question that many ask. Is it the sets? Well, that's one part of it. Is it the music? Also a big part. All good answers, but what makes the show is the people. "Bye Bye Birdie" had wonderful, talented people that made the show a big success. Some cast members wished that they could do it again, and the audience agreed. "Bye Bye Birdie" had wonderful music that wouldn't have been as good as it was written, if it weren't for the dedication and talent of the people. This talent was because of the backround of the cast, a backround that was involved in music and acting. Which also made it easy to memorize lines. The show mainly focused on the spoofing of the popularity of Elvis at the time, but it did have that message of true love buried within its hilarious lines and quips. Albert, agent of Conrad Birdie, has a problem with being pushed around by his mother, and his busy schedule taking care of Conrad Birdie, which leads to the problems with his girlfriend. Hilarity ensues as there is a plan hatched to get Conrad to kiss a fan before he ships off into the military. With the crazy fans and the odd parents of the lucky fan, the show proved to be almost as good as a Broadway show. Fortunately, by the end it all worked out for Albert and his love Rosie. This show was a experience that will not be forgotten by the talented people that particpated. With the wonderful direction of Mr. Randall to get us through, the show turned out to be a huge success. What makes a great show? The work put into it by the people involved.

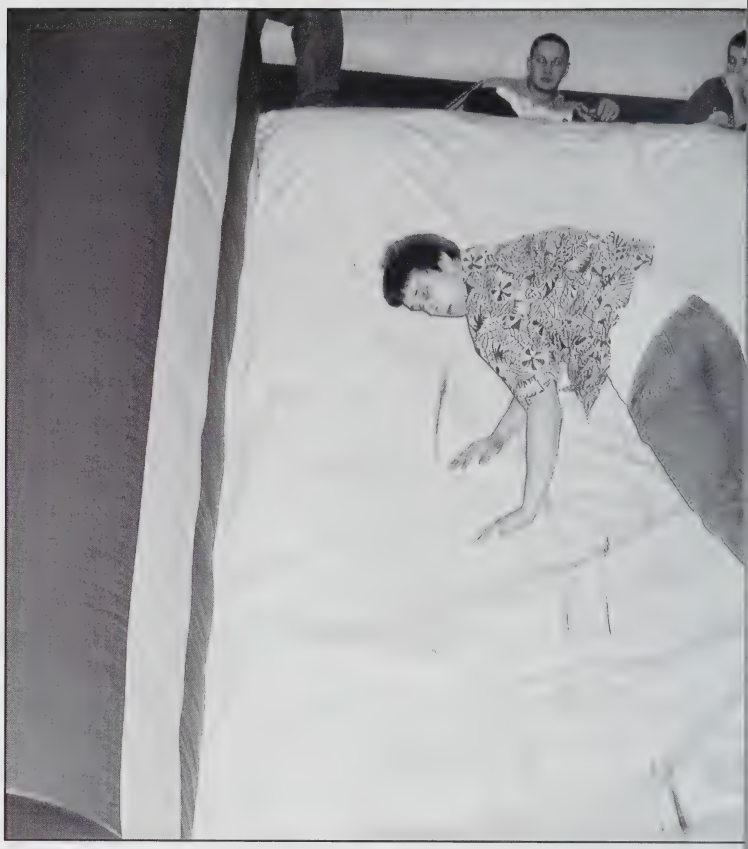
Becky Booth and Jimmy Coughlin take a break after jumping around in the boxing ring. I wonder who won their boxing match? It looks like Jimmy got pretty beat up as he appears to be holding his head.

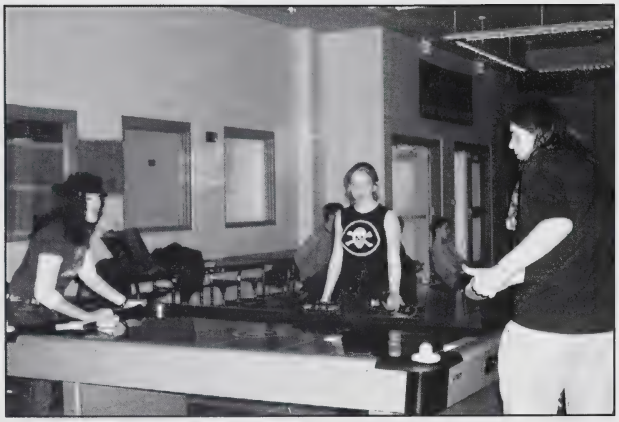
Darcie Lewandowski takes a break from all the fun and excitement to regroup and regain her energy for the next event.

Sliding with a friend is far better than sliding alone. Erika Deluca and Brittany McGlone give each other moral support as they prepare to head down the slide.



Jeff Evans, Criag Branconnier, Megan Passerelli, Adam Hammare and Chelsea Kavanaugh huddle together to discuss their plans for the next hour or so. Should we do some boxing? How about air hockey? Maybe we should just go watch a movie...

Bryant Nykiel heads down the obstacle course slide sideways... or is he rolling down the slide?



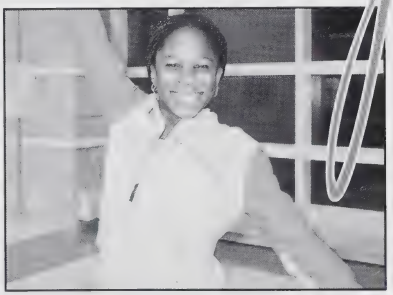
Air hockey has become a favorite amongst the students at Tantasqua since they were introduced to the student body in the cafeteria during lunches. Here, a couple of sophomores face-off for a fierce competition.

Don't all school have pools in them? Okay then, how about pool tables? A group of sophomores works on their pool shooting skills. It's all about Geometry and angles boys!

Sophomore All-Nighter

The Sophomore All-Nighter has quickly become an anticipated tradition by all freshmen and sophomores. The event began a couple years ago as a sophomore fund-raiser and has grown into an evening filled with laughter, competition and relaxation.

The idea behind the Sophomore All-Nighter was one sparked by Mr. Hitov. Being a class adviser, he was looking for a new and innovative way to raise funds for the class. Hence the all-nighter was born.



The event has grown to include many fun activities for its guests including air hockey competitions, pool (billiards) matches, an inflatable boxing ring, an inflatable obstacle course complete with giant slide, video games on large screen television monitors as well as movies. Once students arrive, they are in the building until the following morning. No one is allowed to leave. They have the freedom to move from one activity to the next playing games and participating in some friendly competition with their peers.

This evening is fast becoming a favorite amongst the students at Tantasqua and will continue to uphold it's safe, fun and profitable tradition as the years move on.

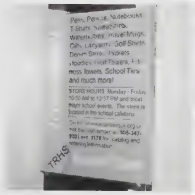
The Tantasqua Marching Band offers its services (songs) to the student body during a pep rally for fall sports.



The Tantasqua School Store is a great place to buy Warrior merchandise. Supplies include sweatshirts, t-shirts, and more.

Paige Wood practices outside of the front entrance of the school. Keeping in time with the others is not easy.

Gabby Georgantis has the routine down pat and is performing it in front of a crowd of screaming fans during half time.

Tom Auger gets the Tantasqa Marching Band rolling on a song during the half time of a home football game.

While some students use sports as an outlet from the hectic school day, others find solace in the various activities and clubs that Tantasqua has to offer. These activities offer students an opportunity to leave their own imprint on the school and on the students by giving them a voice and allowing them to be a part of decision making.

It's about being a part of the life at Tantasqua. Though these clubs generally meet after school hours, they can be felt everywhere within the school and throughout the day. Walking through the halls, there are a variety of signs on the walls promoting these groups, offering a place for any student who wishes to join in the fun.

Of all the clubs, the Student Council is one of the most active. They are responsible for most of the school's activities, pep rallies, Homecoming Dance, contests and just general fun stuff. The school band and chorus are always available to put on a great show or just show support during events like football games or pep-rallies. If these clubs aren't for you, perhaps the Hockey Club or Math Team would suit you. Regardless of your particular interests, Tantasqua has an activity that will suit you and help to build character. All you have to do is show up. We'll take care of the rest.

The desire to win is one of the most motivating forces in life and it doesn't stop at just sports. The desire to win or be a success at whatever we do is ingrained in our being. We all want to be good at something and excel whether it be academics, art, music or sports.

Tantasqua's sports programs is an outlet for some students. It gives them the chance to show off and build upon a talent they've been working on for years. It's a means of exercise to some and a tension release for others. Regardless of the reason for joining a sport, one thing stands true, the desire to win or succeed is easily seen in any sport.

Sports teach people to work together as a team. They teach endurance, skill, health, and technique. Sports create a sense of belonging to some. They are an important part of the life of Tantasqua and of the students. In many ways, they have become a tradition as fans head out to the Thanksgiving Day football game. Sports give students a chance to excel at something other than academics is a well-needed outlet to many.

desire

With the desire to win as his motivation, Mike Sprouse makes his way to the finish line.

Looking for another completion, Ryan DiGregorio steps back and gets ready to pass the ball.

A lady Warrior softball player snags the ground ball and sends it over to first base for an out.

After another great save, Jon Balderelli gets ready to kick the ball back out into play.

Lindsay Yeager sends a backhand soaring over the net making the score 30-love.

The varsity cheerleading squad performs during half-time on the football field.

It was another winning season for the Boys' Cross country team. After a disappointing unexpected loss against Quaboag in the first race of the season, captains Mike Willard and Charlie Curnow led the varsity team to win six of their subsequent races. The depth of the varsity team, the most prominent strength of the boys' program for two years now, delivered most of those victories. Sophomore Josh "Boots" Bouthiller and seniors Ben Rearick and Bryan Barnes provided consistent strong finishes behind Willard and Curnow to round out the varsity squad. In the Southern Worcester County League race held at the end of the season, Willard and Curnow finished first and second for the Western Conference. The were selected SWCL All-Stars after the race along with Bouthiller.

The Girls' Cross Country team, led by captains Caitlin Phifer and Kristin Wood had another amazing season this year winning ten of their eleven races and once again winning the title of Southern Worcester County League Western Conference Champions. Wood led the team to an array of victories finishing first in this year's SWCL race and second in the Central Massachusetts District race, thus gaining a spot in the Massachusetts State race. Freshman Rebecca Ritchie, juniors Devon Lucier and Lindsay Jones, and sophomore Jen Picking filled out the varsity squad, carrying on despite an injury suffered by second place runner Justine McElroy early in the season. Bringing no surprise, Wood and Ritchie were elected SWCL All-Stars at the end of the season.

Devon Lucier gives the "thumbs-up" as she approaches the finish line. Jen Picking doesn't look as positive.

putting & driving

Andrew Kent takes an extra minute to line up his putt. He needs this putt for par.

The Warrior Golf team listens to Coach Keenan as he reviews the course rules and strategies they should use during the day's match.

This was a rebuilding year for the Tantasqua golf team. Many members of the team were underclassmen with little experience in golf. Throughout the year, all of the players were consistently improving, and even though the record doesn't show it, the entire team became much better. The season was highlighted by two consecutive wins by only one stroke. Although there were only five wins, everybody had fun on the course, and we bonded as a team. Under the strong leadership of Coach Keenan, the team was ready to both learn and play everyday. With an eye toward the future, the team looks very strong for next season as many of this year's starters will be returning. This year was a lot of fun and it was a great experience for all.

As with tradition at the beginning of every game, the Warrior Soccer Team lines up on the field for a little pep-talk and shin-guard check from the referee.

playing with skill

Ah, Soccer season! A time where kids give their souls some recreation. Shags grow long, bandanas are worn. Everyone has a ball kicking the old futebal around, while drawbacks of course: miles and miles of running (Coach V's favorite things to do), blistering hot August practices and frigid October games.

This was supposed to be a rebuilding year for the Tantasqua Boys Soccer program. The team was rebuilt without missing a beat. The young team managed to make districts for the 14th straight time, even though earlier in the season that goal seemed highly improbable. We played some awful games but always managed to bounce back with stellar victories. It was a joy to watch the captains: all-state soccer god Sean Malvey played around with opponents, Ryan Ferro's funky moves incorporated his dancing skills into the game, and Chris Freniere bulldozed over goalies on a regular basis. The supporting cast of seniors and juniors was also great led by John Gilbert's defense, Dennis Brosnan's hair, Jay Pacitti's footwork, and Buzz Jeznach's swagger. Most importantly, the youngest members of the team (especially at defense) learned quickly and played like veterans in crucial moments. They are going to carry the team for the next two or three years, and it seems like they will be able to do great things. Good Luck!

kickin' style

For the girls varsity soccer team, the 2004 season was the most successful one in many years. Because we only lost 3 seniors last year, our team had a lot of experience playing together. Our experience as a team, along with the friendships we had with our teammates, provided us with everything we needed to make this season memorable. Our record was 7-10-1 and although it wasn't a winning record, it was the best one in 11 years. Many injuries and illnesses set back the team mid-season, but we pulled together and finished the season strong with 3 consecutive wins. The team was let by senior captain Jamie McKearney, and seniors Sarah Couming, Alyssa Rogalski, Meghan Morrissey, Sarah Silverman, and Monique Schroth.

Even though the Warrior Football team struggled this year, it was very clear that the program has shown a marked improvement. The new head coach, Coach Powell, instilled in the Warriors both dedication and pride. The coach demanded a commitment from his players and he hopes to someday make excellence a tradition on the Reservation. Despite going 2-9 for the season, the Warriors put as much effort as they could in to each and every game. In the coming years, the Warrior football team is going to definitely be a force to be reckoned with.

The Warrior Field Hockey team had a strong season finishing 8-9-2. After losing eleven seniors there were only five returning varsity players. This minor setback encouraged the Warriors to step it up and work together with the newcomers to form a fantastic lineup. The new players had big shoes to fill, but did a fantastic job dominating the majority of the games that they played. Senior captains Kacey Light and Jaimie Macari did an excellent job encouraging the team and leading them through an exciting season. Five year varsity Coach Glennon taught the girls to use their skill to their advantage on the field. During the last game of their season, the Warriors beat the David Prouty Panthers 2-0 to secure them a seat in the Central Massachusetts District Playoffs. The team then went on to battle the North Middlesex Patriots and lost a close game 3-1.

Next year, the Warriors will be even stronger!

The past four years on Tantasqua's Varsity Cheerleading squad have been truly memorable. From joining the squad with a bunch of girls I had never cheered with before to becoming a captain with Christina Bencivenni, to qualifying to go to regionals this past football season, the memories are unforgettable.

At first cheering was tough because we wanted to gain respect from the school. As the program has grown, so has all of the talent of the girls on the squad. The past two seasons have been the best I've had. While it's been sad that it's my last year, I am very proud of all the girls on the squad and everything we have accomplished. We have become a team of best friends that love to cheer!

The 2004 - 2005 Tantasqua Boys' Varsity basketball season began in the summer of 2004. Tantasqua finished their Auburn Summer League with an impressive record of 17 - 2 and ended up taking home the first place trophy.

From that point on, expectations were high. We began our season with four straight wins but quickly suffered two losses. With our record at 4 - 2, we won eleven straight games which placed us in districts. We are now one of the top two teams in division two.

The reason we were able to have such great success this season is due to the fact that we have great team chemistry. Everyone on the team gets along with each other and the captains of the team (Kevin Vayda, Tom Dowling and Jeff Lindgren) are highly respected by their teammates. We have a strong coaching staff that does a great job of utilizing all of our team's talents. Overall, we are very pleased with the way this season is going so far and wish the best of luck for the years to come.

The 2004-05 Girls' Basketball team had a fine season. The team had many holes to fill having lost seven members from last year's team and with only two seniors returning. But this group more than exceeded expectations. They did it through hard work and an outstanding commitment and dedication to the team. With the SWCL being one of the toughest girls basketball conferences in central Massachusetts, The Lady Warriors more than held their own. Solid team play, resilient character, and great work ethic resulted in several big wins during the season.

Oh, and who could forget the huge win against Bartlett during senior night, the overtime defeat of Southbridge, or the one point nail-biter versus Millbury? Nice job Warriors!

And they're off! The Tantasqua Boys make their way around the track at top speed. Notice there isn't a single competitor near these four. They obviously left them in their dust!

The runners, sprinters, throwers and jumpers of the indoor track team of 2005 tossed aside their fall season differences and joined together to form the unbeatable team they proved to be. The Warriors continued their reign in the Souther Worcester County League winning the championships for both the boys' and girls' teams.

Coach Gonzalez played a key role along with assistant coach Green in establishing good workouts, ethics and goals for the team as well as for the individual athletes. Support for the girls' team came from captains, Jaimie Macari, Meghan Morrissey and Kacey Light. Macari was the SWCL champion hurdler and was part of the winning 4 x 400 team with Leslie Carlson, Sanna Osseyran, and Rebecca Ritchie. Morrissey placed in the top three 300 meter runners and also did well in the 4 x 200. Light placed top 6 in the 600 and continuously gained points in the 2 mile despite a long term injury. Other competitors were Cria Picco who dominated the 1000 and mile and Jamie McKearney who placed first in the 55 meter dash.

The boys' team captains, Charlie Curnow, Chuck Gilman, Mike willard and Dave Elliot provided great enthusiasm and support for the team. Willard performed well in the mile and placed top three in the 2 mile along with Kiki Wood and Kyle Dunn. Curnow was on the winning 4 x 800 team and placed 2nd in the 1000 meter run. Gilman placed first in the shot-put, qualifying for the state meet, and Elliot proudly placed 3rd in the high jump. The 4 x 400 team ran a great race as well as many other talented team members. About fifteen percent of the team will move on to the district competition and a number will go on to states with their qualifying times, distances and heights.

This 2005 season was truely successful because of the team's development as a whole as well as the team members' attitudes and effort and their great amount of talent. The two trophies received reflect and encourage success. Luck and best wishes to future track Warriors!

Last season was all ups and downs for the Warrior Baseball team. This however was a great improvement from a few years ago as the team is becoming more and more skillful and stronger as time goes on.

This year's softball team was somewhat of a disappointment. The team had a few issues in spite of the vast skills of the individuals. What should have been an amazing year was plagued by the unfortunate event of the team not coming together as a single unit. It affected the season immensely. Out of all of the games, the Varsity team was only able to pull together a single win. That's not to say that they didn't try.

With a little more practice and teamwork, the future will be brighter. Hopefully the girls will take last year's team and look at it as an example to learn from. Next year's team has a lot of work ahead of it. With the skill and determination of the individuals on the team and the collaboration of the team working as one unified entity, the Tantasqua Girls' Softball team will be a contender. Watch out Southern Worcester County League... we're going to a force to be beaten!

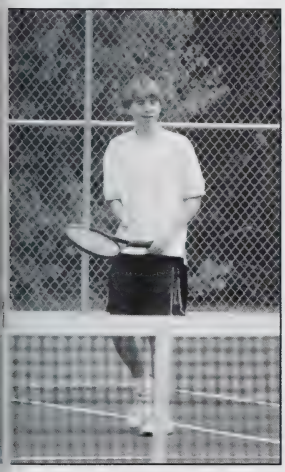
The Tantasqua Warrior Tennis team continued their winning tradition by winning the SWCL for the ninth year in a row. The team then won the Central Massachusetts Championship with the help of team captains, Neil Drexhage and Mikey Hughes. The warriors tennis team then proceeded to the state semi-finals where they lost to North Hampton.

All in all the season was a great success. With the leadership of Mr. Hamparian, the Tantasqua Boys' Tennis Team has made great strides and will continue to work to be the best that it can. Give it a couple more years - we'll be the best in the state!



Cast? What cast? Neil Drexhage plays despite having his arm in a cast. How did he break it you ask? Well - that's a story for Neil to tell you. Just know that it has something to do with him trying to leap over the net like a hurdler.

The 2004 season was difficult. However, Girls' Warrior Tennis overcame the expected losses. The standard, coming off of two state championship years, was a high one, which the noble band of seniors was eager to keep up. Rain or shine, the lady warriors were out practicing to beat opponents, who were hungry for a win over a previously dominant team. On sunny days, the ladies could be seen wearing their tennis shades, coordinating outfits, and matching bows on their ponytails. On gloomy ones, the undeterred warriors were bundled, but ready for action. Captains Meghan Conners, Kim Spencer and Kim Predella cooperated well together, pilling the team through a tough districts run which ended with a defeat to the Bartlett Indians. Season highlights include Erin McGee's frequent three set matches, many Dairy Queen stops and Caroline Annessi constantly rubbing boogers on people's arms during team huddles. Grateful are the Warriors to their coach, Mr. Parker (P-Man) for making the season enjoyable, and for his great devotion to his team.

freestyle competition

Having invented a new diving technique, this diver heads into the water both upside-down and backwards. I wonder if she made a splash.

Melanie Laprade makes her way down the lane doing the dreaded butterfly stroke - the most difficult and exhausting stroke there is.

Our team has come so incredibly far this year. In the past, we won only a few meets and they were always against the same teams. However, this year, our team won two meets, and lost four. In those four that the team lost, three of them came down to the very last event of the meet. We have many Sectional qualifiers and even a few State qualifiers this year. Qualifiers in the girl's 200 freestyle relay event included Mary Beth Casey, Tiffany Santilli, Anna Sotar, and Kaila Bixby. Anna Sotar qualified in individual events. Our team, as a whole, has worked substantially harder to become the best they could possibly be, and our dedicated coach, Leandra Manos, has created more challenging practices in order to strengthen the swimmers and accelerate our training.

On the other side of our team, we have the divers, who have surpassed all expectations, as there was no actual diving team last year. However, thanks to our enthusiastic and generous diving coach, Mrs. McDonald, our diving has crushed virtually all competition at our meets. Another huge accomplishment of the diving team is that for the first time in Tantasqua history, we have had a diver, Sean Kennedy, qualify for meets on both the Sectional and State level. Tantasqua Swimming and Diving has significantly improved this year's performance and talent. The team has had a wonderful year and hopefully will progress just as much next year has they have this year.

Love Always, Your one & only sister
Kara

N.R.L You are in all our hearts on Graduation Day. We miss you!

Krysti & Alyssa,
We always knew you could do it. Good luck in college. We have the best Memories of both of you. We will be the Best of friends forever. We love you!
♥Kara, Courtney, Francesca, Angelique and Deirdre

Alyssa,
Remember when we were on our way to the O-Town Concert and The Graduation song came on? We started crying. And now that time has come. We've been "Best Friends" ever since 1st grade and this friendship will never end. I love you!
Kr.

Devan Marie La Chance

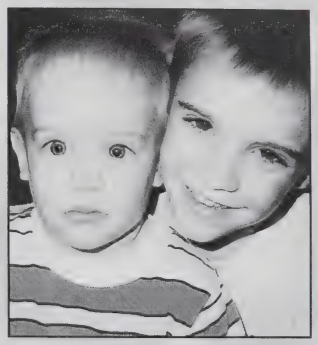
Dev, it seems like only yesterday you were a wide-eyed little girl heading off for her very first day of school…and somehow -- between then and now, that little girl has grown into a beautiful young woman.

Know that we're proud of every step you've taken and everything you have learned. Know, too, that no matter where life may lead you, we'll always love and believe in you every step of the way.

Love, Mom, John, Krystle, Zac and Ryan

Kevin,
It's hard to believe that you're grown up and graduating high school. I can still remember when you were little and would always tell me to slow down on the bumpy roads near our house because it scared you. I'm just not so sure you took your own advice! We are very proud of you and hope you live a full and happy life. May you be successful at whatever you choose to do with your future.

Love, Mom, Dad & Brian



Dear Kacey,

"Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all."

Love, Mom

Matt,
We are all very proud of you. We love you.
Love,
Mom, Jerry, Alycia and Kevin & Noah

Ant,

I knew from the start you would be someone very special, not just to me but to others as well. I'm very proud of you.

I love you,
Mom

Josh R.,

You were a miracle when you were born and have been a blessing ever since. Your high school years have been amazing and have made us proud - your grades, your singing, your acting and your writing. Like Mr. H says, we also won't be surprised if you do great things.

Love,
Mom & Dad

Our dear Jaimie:
I hope you never lose your sense of wonder,
I hope you never fear those mountains in the distance,
Never settle for the path of least resistance.
Living might mean taking chances, but they're worth taking

I hope you still feel small when you stand by the ocean
Whenever one door closes, I hope one more opens
Give the heavens above more than just a passing glance
Promise me you'll give faith a fighting chance
When given the chance to sit it out or dance,
Dance!
May all your dreams come true!
Love, Mom, Brian, Mikenna, Chase and Cami

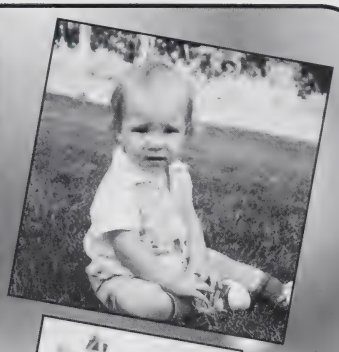
Excerpt from "I'll Love You Dance" - Lee Ann Womack

Our little girl is all grown up, but you'll always be our "baby". We will always remember that special day that you were born and brought so much joy into our lives.

We are so proud of all that you have accomplished and look forward to watching what you have in store. Be strong and stay the loving, caring person that you are.

We love you with all our hearts.

Mom, Dad and Stephanie



Dear Arthur

Congratulations! We are very proud of the charming young man you have become. We have every confidence that you will do well in life. Enjoy yourself. We will always be there for you.

Love - Mom, Dad & Pearl

Alyssa,

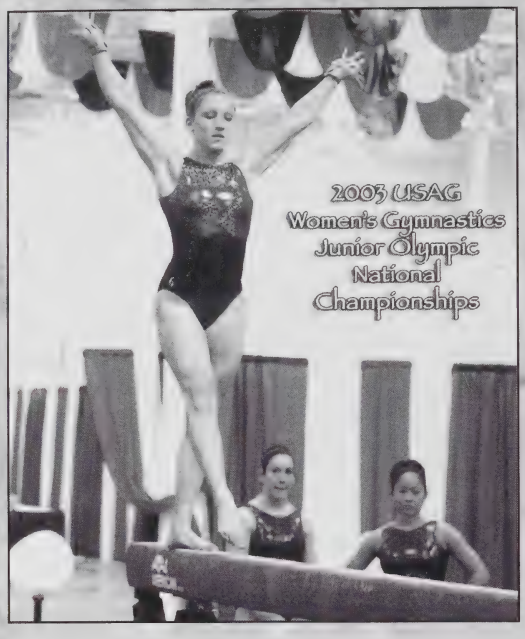
Reach for the stars...
All your dreams will come true.

With love always,
Mom, Dad
& Erik

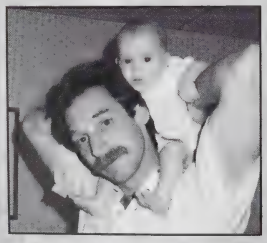
Dear Erin,

We admire your determination to persue your dreams. Your ability to make others laugh and, more importantly to be able to laugh at yourself are wonderful traits. You have an inner peace that puts those around you at ease. These qualities will help you fulfill your dreams. May the blessings of love, joy and peace make your journey worthwhile.

Love always,
Dad & Mom



Congratulations Stefanie!
Now is a time to celebrate... your accomplishments have been a result of the goals you have set for yourself. Our greatest reward has been seeing your dreams come true. You have brought us nothing but joy! May your future hold the same happiness that you have given us as our daughter.
We love you,
Mom & Dad



Your beautiful smile has brightened the world since the day you were born. May all your dreams come true.

Love,
Dad, Mom & Megan

Dear Emily,

Life is like the ocean -
Stormy, beautiful and filled with new discoveries. Remember to be strong and stay the course during the stormy times. Enjoy and appreciate its beauty and never stop discovering uncharted paths.

You have filled our lives with an entire lifetime of smiles. The past 18 years have been the best part of our life's journey. We wish you all the best that life has to offer and many, many exciting discoveries in your life's adventure.

We love you "Bunny."

Mom & Dad

Lindsay Brecht
It was like yesterday watching you begin your journey on your first day of school. we were excited for you but filled with worries that all mothers, fathers feel when their young fly for the first time.

Now...Again, as we get to see you enter a new phase of a journey I'm not filled with so many worries this time because we have seen what an incredible young woman you have grown into.
Lindsay, you have touched my heart and life I know you will continue to do remarkable things in your Journey to come
Your smile brightens a gloomy day
Your laughter brightens a gloomy face
Thank you for brightening all of our lives
We Love You With All Our Hearts!
Love Mom, Dad, and Breanna

Dear Monique,

Eighteen years ago when I held you for the first time, I wondered what you would be like when you grew up. You are everything and more that I have dreamed of. You are a beautiful young woman (even if you do look like your mother,) intelligent, loving, independent and strong willed. May all of your dreams come true. The future is yours. We are so proud of you.

Congratulations!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Rachel,

Another year has come to a close and will go down in the history books of Tantasqua. As you all head on in your own direction, take a minute to look back at your past. Think about all that Tantasqua did for you and has meant to you over the years.

What has Tantasqua done for you? It has helped to build character in each and every one of you The teachers have acted as your mentors and prepared you for college and the working world. It has given you the opportunity to excel at a sport and follow your desires. It has taught you how to survive and the importance of pursuing your dreams. It allowed you to use your own intuition and make decisions that would ultimately impact your future. It has taught you that diversity is not purely black and white, it can be found in a person's beliefs and is something that is everywhere in the world. But most importantly, Tantasqua has taught you how to be a success in life.

It is now up to you to take all that you have learned here and use it . You have left your imprint on Tantasqua, now it's time to leave it on the rest of your life.

Stefanie Navarro heads home after a long day of school in her Buick Skylark. Now that's a great car!

Ms. Kustigian tries to explain the intricate details of folding whipped cream into a mixture. Evan Hale and his friend don't looked convinced. Why can't we just mix it?

Monique Schroth shows us all how she really feels about her day. Hopefully the next day proved to be a little more positive.

Mrs. Sawyer meets with her interns in the Media Center to discuss the log sheets they are all supposed to be filling out. How many do you think were done?

Heather Croteau sits in class with an expression of complete joy after receiving another assignment to bring home with her. That's why it's called "homework."

We started working on the 2004 - 2005 yearbook last May. There are so many things to decide when your creating a yearbook that you just can't wait until September. The most important item is choosing the theme of the book. This year, we chose the word Imprint. The thought was that each and every one of us in some way will leave our own imprint on Tantasqua in the course of the four years that we spend here.

Last June, a couple weeks after school got out, Devon Lucier, Ms. Wicker and I attended a three day yearbook conference at Bridgewater State College. We attended classes and learned how to make our yearbook even better than it was before. During the course of the summer we didn't just relax and enjoy the sun and sand, instead we were hard at work trying to come up with ways to incorporate our theme throughout the book. The summer came and went and once again we were back at school. Work began immediately.

Many people think that yearbook is just a "once in a while" after school activitiy that they can participate in whenever they feel like it. Well, I would like to give next year's yearbook staff some advice. If you think that you want to be a part of the yearbook, you have to be committed and willing to get work done. There's always something that needs to be done but it requires a lot of time and energy to be completed. You may find yourself interviewing people or simply trying to finding someone for a picture or even coming up with some crazy captions. But just remember, however you help with the yearbook, whether it be big or small, it's always apprecitated.

I would personally like to thank Ms. Wicker for choosing me to be the editor of this year's book and also for helping us put out another outstanding yearbook. With out her, this yearbook would not have been the same.
